

MONASH INTERFAITH GATHERING

Statement of Commitment against Family Violence

The Monash Interfaith Gathering stands against all forms of violence that results in, physical, sexual or psychological harm or suffering to individuals be it based on customs, traditions or religious consideration.

The Monash Interfaith condemns such acts which subjugates a person or persons and stands in support of all those who have suffered domestic violence.

As leaders of our Faith communities we join together and agree to work together to reduce domestic violence in all areas of our society and in particular violence against women and children.

We also urge all local government, state and federal authorities to exercise due diligence to prevent such crimes being committed on innocent victims.

The Monash Interfaith Gathering believes in the freedom of all individuals to practice their faith and stand for their just rights and live a life free of violence and subjugation.
